THE COLLEGE

HENRY KELLER MOHLER

1887 - 1941

THE sudden death of Henry Keller Mohler on May 16, 1941, from cerebral hemorrhage overwhelmed his many friends and associates with grief. His unheralded passing found numerous tasks not completed and many of his plans for the future of the Jefferson Medical College unfulfilled.

Dr. Mohler was a loyal son of Jefferson. During his entire professional life he was associated in some capacity with either the Hospital or College. He gave unselfishly of his time and energies to the Institution and those whom it served; in fact the welfare of his Alma Mater always was uppermost in his mind and no personal sacrifices for it were too great. Work was his motto; work was his avocation; work seemed to be his only interest in life.

As Medical Director of the Jefferson Hospital from 1914 to 1938 he poured his time and energies into the Institution. The distinguished position that The Jefferson Hospital enjoys and its remarkable development during this period give adequate testimony to the outstanding executive ability and untiring devotion of its Medical Director, who chose to sacrifice a brilliant medical career for that of an executive in order that the interest and influence of the Hospital might be increased.

Although his tenure of office as Dean of the Jefferson Medical College was but three short years he had accomplished much and plans for greater developments were in fruition. Dr. Mohler's career was a brilliant one. Graduated with honors from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy he was accorded a similar distinction on his graduation from the Jefferson Medical College. He was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Science by LaSalle College and Juniata College. He was a member of many medical societies. Many noteworthy contributions on cardiology and therapeutics were made to medical literature.

Henry Mohler is dead! He always will be remembered as a loyal son of Jefferson who gave his all that she might continue to grow and maintain her distinguished position among medical institutions. His friends will remember him as unselfish, sympathetic, generous and devoted. "His few faults were screened by his many virtues."

Henry Keller Mohler

T R I B U T E

The passing of our Dean, Henry K. Mohler, leaves with us the memory of a great man. It adds another stone to the foundation of Jefferson, alongside of all those great men whose love and loyalty have enabled those of us who are left to give all we have.

The death of a man like Henry Mohler should not cause us sadness, as it has left to us the memory of the bright and happy times we have had with him. The influence of his loyalty will make us work harder to cause our Institution to more and more take a leading place in the great work for mankind.

The Alumni, to a man, are better men; The Institution is a better Institution, because of him. The Trustees, Faculty, Alumni and everyone connected with Jefferson Medical College are closer together than they ever were before.

Doctor Mohler had a spectacular career. He was born on April 2, 1887, in Ephrata, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. He attended the grade schools in that rural community and came to Philadelphia, after graduating from the High School in Ephrata. Like many of his contemporaries, he entered the portals of Medicine through the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, and worked his way through that Institution, graduating in 1907, with the highest honors which could be bestowed upon him by that College.

He became a student at Jefferson in 1907, but because of an attack of typhoid fever, it was necessary for him to discontinue his course in his Freshman year. In 1908 he again entered the Freshman Class and by his diligence and application, graduated with the highest honors in his class in 1912.

Doctor Mohler's life was one of continuous service to his Alma Mater. He was selected as an intern in 1912 and before the completion of his internship, he was placed in charge of the Laboratories of Clinical Pathology, in which position he served with distinction until 1914, when he was made Medical Director of Jefferson Hospital. His tenure of office in this post was one of continuous progress for the Institution.

He was responsible for many of the advancements which have made our hospital one of the finest in the Country. While serving as Medical Director, he began the climb of progress in the various ranks of the Medical Department, serving under the late Professor Thomas McCrae, reaching the climax of his career when he was chosen as the Sutherland M. Prevost Professor of Therapeutics, the chair created for the late Professor Hobart Amory Hare.

Because of his remarkable executive ability and his innate power of organization, he was chosen to fill the vacancy created by the death of Doctor Ross V. Patterson, and in 1938, he was made Dean of Jefferson Medical College.

As Dean, Doctor Mohler inaugurated many new methods and put into use several original ideas. The Department of Clinical Investigation grew rapidly under his guidance, the selection and organization of Residents and Fellows followed in direct line, and the completion of the Laboratories of Clinical Investigation was also a part of his program.

ROBERT P. HOOPER

President of the Board of Trustees

His activities in the Alumni Association of Jefferson Medical College were extensive. He served not only as President of the Alumni Association, but was the permanent Vice-Chairman of that organization.

When death took him from us, Doctor Mohler was a member of all the leading Medical organizations throughout the Country.

He served in the World War in France, as Chief of the Medical Service of Base Hospital No. 38.

Not for many years has Jefferson lost a son who was so outstanding in Medical science and organization. Doctor Mohler was a brilliant student, an excellent teacher and organizer, and a man who served his Country, as well as his Family and his Institution.

We have lost a friend—but never will we lose the memory of that friend.

ROBERT P. HOOPER,
President—Board of Trustees.

DR. MOHLER'S LAST MESSAGE TO THE ALUMNI

Dear Fellow-Alumni:

It is a great privilege and a real pleasure to send greetings and good wishes to the alumni of Jefferson Medical College widely scattered throughout the world. It is particularly fitting to send our best wishes to those engaged in the military service of the United States.

The Session 1940-1941 is rapidly drawing to a close, bringing us nearer to Commencement Week including Class Reunions, the Annual Alumni Dinner, and Commencement Day. With the continuing co-operation of an intensely interested and far-sighted Board of Trustees, supported by a loyal Alumni Association, we, here in the Institution, know that our College is going forward each year to a greater Jefferson. Some of our objectives and aims have been achieved, but many others have appeared on the horizon and await solution.

The upheaval in the world today again has placed heavy responsibilities upon the medical profession. It is most gratifying to learn of the hundreds of our alumni who have so nobly responded to the call of the Nation. Jefferson has reorganized General Hospital No. 38, United States Army, whose personnel stands ready for service. This hospital during the last World War rendered very distinguished service in France.

A hearty invitation is extended to you to return to Jefferson for the alumni activities in June, and to renew old associations. I trust that I shall have the pleasure of greeting you personally during your visit.

We appreciate your loyalty, good will, and splendid support of our Alma Mater.

Cordially yours,

H. K. MOHLER,
Dean.

DR. GEORGE A. ULRICH
Clinical Professor of Obstetrics
Portrait Presented to the College by the Class of 1941.

SCENE IN THE CLINICAL AMPHITHEATRE DURING THE PRESENTATION OF

PRESENTATION OF CLASS PORTRAIT

On March 6, 1941, a distinguished and enthusiastic group assembled in the hospital amphitheater as guests of the Senior Class to witness the presentation of the portrait of their beloved friend and teacher, Dr. George Alvin Ulrich.

Dean Mohler accepted the portrait for the Board of Trustees following its unveiling by the President of the Class of 1941, John Joseph Gill. Short addresses were made by Professors E. Quin Thornton, Norris W. Vaux and Randle C. Rosenberger.

The portrait was the work of the distinguished artist, Roy C. Nuse, who was particularly desirous that not only should it be a likeness of his subject, but would also portray the professional activities of Dr. Ulrich. A proper locale was selected—a classroom in the Pennsylvania Lying-In Hospital.

The completed design gives us as, a dominate interest, the figure of Dr. Ulrich, the man, just as his associates and students see him today, informal and with the inevitable cigar.

The special field of obstetrics was indicated by the inclusion of an anatomical chart upon which appears the female pelvis with foetus. The pelvimeter enhances further this pattern of thought. The figure of a nurse in the background was posed by a young lady who at one time was delivered by Dr. Ulrich.

DEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITIES

A RÉSUMÉ COMPRISING THE MOST SIGNIFICANT ADVANCEMENTS THAT HAVE BEEN MADE IN THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS OF THE COLLEGE DURING THE PAST YEAR.

ANATOMY

The Anatomy Department during the academic year 1940 to 1941 coordinated the laboratory course in applied and operative surgery. Arrangements have been made so that the First Year men were enabled to make a dissection of the new-born child as well as the adult body.

With the cooperation of the Department of Roentgenology this department was able to present certain phases of roentgenography and fluoroscopy to the First Year Students.

The department is gradually building up a large library of natural color photomicrographic lantern slides for Histology and Embryology.

During the year Doctor Schaeffer assumed the editorship of Morris' Anatomy. The new edition of this leading textbook is listed for completion in April, 1942.

During the year Doctor Schaeffer has given much of his time to the activities of the Anatomical Board of the State, making various visits out of the city in the interest of the Board and medical education.

GYNECOLOGY

During the current year, and for the first time, the subject of gynecology has been introduced to the second year class.

In conjunction with the laboratory lectures and demonstrations in morbid anatomy, provided by the pathological staff of the College, a special course in gynecologic pathology has been arranged by the gynecological staff. The work consists of a series of talks and demonstrations relative to the clinical interpretation and implications of pelvic inflammations and pelvic neoplasms respectively. Twelve demonstrations of an hour and a half each—three hours per student—are devoted to this undertaking, which is designed to engender a better understanding of the succeeding third and fourth year work in clinical gynecology.

During the current academic year, Dr. Brooke M. Anspach, Emeritus Professor of Gynecology, has conducted a number of clinics for the senior sections in gynecology. He has also lectured to the junior class. Dr. Anspach's continued generous service to the department is deeply appreciated.

Dr. Roy W. Mohler, Associated in Gynecology, has completed a year of service as President of the Obstetrical Society of Philadelphia (1940-1941).

MEDICINE

No major changes have been made in the Department of Medicine during the past academic year. A Geriatric Clinic in charge of Doctor Laplace has been organized in the Curtis Clinic. This is one of the first of its kind in Philadelphia and is in keeping with progress elsewhere.

The proposed plan of assigning fourth year students to the Out-Patient Department and the third year students as clinical clerks in the wards will be postponed because of the uncertainties of the times. The course in physical diagnosis in the second year has been reorganized under the direction of Professor Eads.

No important changes have been made in the professorial staff. Leaves of absence were granted to Professor B. B. Vincent Lyon and to Doctor McCombs. Doctor Karl Paschkis, formerly with Professor Julius Bauer at the Polyclinic in Vienna, has been appointed Mears Fellow and is engaging in research in endocrinology and will participate in the proposed Endocrine Clinic.

Doctor W. Paul Havens, Resident in Medicine since 1938, has received a National Research Council Fellowship and will assist Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, Director of the Hospital of the Rockefeller Institute, New York City, beginning September 1st.

NEUROLOGY

During the past year the activities of the Neurology Department have been concerned with neuropathological and neurological problems of various sorts.

New additions to the department in the past year have been Dr. Calvin S. Drayer, Instructor in Neurology; Dr. Herbert S. Gaskill, Assistant Demonstrator of Neurology, and Dr. Alice B. Campbell, who is serving as a voluntary assistant.

During the coming year the department will be augmented by the addition of Dr. Frank M. Foster, who comes to us after having been Chief Resident in Neurology at the Boston City Hospital, Fellow in Psychiatry at the Pennsylvania Hospital, and he has just completed a year in Neurology with Professor John F. Fulton at Yale University Medical School.

VIEW OF RECENTLY COMPLETED LABORATORY, DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACOLOGY

OBSTETRICS

In the Obstetrical Department various changes have been made, the most important being that the obstetrical department of endocrinology has been designated by the authorities to act as the Endocrinological Department of the General Hospital.

ORTHOPEDIC

A modern Orthopedic Ward has been created in the old hospital building. An increasing number of patients will now be made available with improved facilities for use in teaching.

Dr. Henry Sigmond has been called to active duty with the National Guard at Indiantown Gap, Pennsylvania.

OTOLOGY

In the Department of Otology the clinic for the Prevention of Deafness has done exceptionally fine work and a new sound-proof room is being built which will greatly facilitate the careful examination of the ear.

PATHOLOGY

A few changes have been made in the Department of Pathology. Dr. Peter A. Herbut, formerly a member of the Staff in the College, has been transferred to the Division of Clinical Pathology of the Hospital. Dr. Donald McGrew, a graduate of Rush Medical College who did a year's post-graduate work in pathology under Professor Askanazy in Geneva, was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the transfer of Dr. Herbut to the Hospital Staff. The National Research Council approved a grant of funds for the support of further experimentation on shock. The entire staff has been actively engaged on this problem during the year and the results will soon be published. A new monograph on shock, embodying the results of recent developments concerning its origin and mechanism, also practical means for its early recognition and management, is in the final stages of preparation.

PHYSIOLOGY

This has been the most active year in the history of the Physiology Department. The changes in the building have provided quarters for research fellows. Dr. Karl E. Paschkis, Dr. C. Wilmer Wirts and Dr. J. Edward Berk are all actively engaged on various problems. Professors Thomas and Crider and Fellows Paschkis and Wirts attended the Meetings of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Chicago in April, 1941, and read papers before one of the constituent societies. In addition to numerous papers published by various members of the staff, Professor Thomas prepared the Section on Gastrointestinal Physiology for the Annual Review of Physiology, which was published in March, 1941.

PREVENTIVE MEDICINE AND BACTERIOLOGY

In the Department of Preventive Medicine and Bacteriology there have been several papers published relative to the sulphanilamide type of drugs, and work is still being continued upon this phase of streptococcus infections. This work will possibly be pursued during the coming year.

Virus diseases have been studied by cultivation upon the chick embryo and attempts are being made to cultivate virus from various illnesses reputed to be due to viruses.

DEPARTMENT OF NEOPLASTIC DISEASE

During the past year there has been a considerable increase in the attendance at the Friday Tumor Clinic Conference meeting. There has also been an increase in the number of cases referred by both local physicians and physicians outside the city for diagnosis and recommendations as to treatment or for actual treatment.

The Conference group is composed of representatives of various departments of the Hospital.

ROENTGENOGRAPHY

The Department is very much interested and is participating in the program for National Defense. Three of our members; namely, Drs. Melvin A. Dillman, Louis L. Buzaid, Elvin L. Dessen have joined the Jefferson unit. One of our assistants, Dr. Wayne Egbert, has already entered the Medical Service and is now the Chief Roentgenologist in the hospital at Camp Meade.

A valuable piece of equipment was recently installed in the Curtis X-ray Department, a table designed by Dr. David M. Davis for use in Genito-Urinary X-ray studies. This is described in more detail elsewhere. This table is by far the best that has yet been designed for the combination of roentgenoscopy, fluoroscopy and cystoscopy. This equipment has been very enthusiastically received by roentgenologists in general.

The Department is contemplating the installation of some new therapy equipment which will make the Department modern in every respect.

Dr. Louis L. Buzaid, who completes his three-year residency in roentgenography on May 31, 1941, has just received an appointment as roentgenologist at the Queen's Hospital, Honolulu, Hawaii.

SURGERY "A" SERVICE

In addition to a number of new appointments and promotions that have been made, various members of the staff have participated in the publication of articles and exhibits. During the past year Dr. Shallow has been called upon very frequently to speak before various local and national societies.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Arthur Keegan, Police Surgeon, facilities for Clinical teaching of senior students have been augmented by the use of the Surgical Service of the Police and Firemen's Ward in the Philadelphia General Hospital. Drs. Patrick A. McCarthy and Dr. S. Dale Spotts have been assisted in the teaching at this institution by Drs. Eli Saleeby, Hugh Robertson, William Tourish, Milton Harrison, William P. Hearn, Jr., and Lewis C. Manges, Jr.

The departments of Maxillo-Facial Surgery, Proctology and Physio-Therapy have been very active during the current year. More time has been allotted to each of these sub-divisions in the teaching of Senior Medical students.

SURGERY "B" SERVICE

Dr. James O'Neill with the collaboration of Dr. Leandro Tocantins has completed investigations concerned with the problem of "The Absorption of Fluids Through the Marrow Cavity of the Sternum."

Dr. George P. Muller has been selected as editor of Davis' "Applied Anatomy."

THERAPEUTICS

Various problems in the field of Cardiology are being investigated in its relation to the use of drugs. The results of this work will be announced in the near future. The members of out-Patient Department Medicine "C" have been included in the out-Patient Department of Cardiology and have secured additional contributions for Laboratory and Clinical Research.

UROLOGY

During the past year in the Urology Department a new cystoscopic-fluoroscopic-roentgenographic table has been designed by Dr. David M. Davis and constructed with the assistance of Mr. William Hogan and his Franklin X-ray Corporation. It has been placed in the Urological Room of the X-ray Department of the Curtis Clinic. This table utilizes an entirely new principle, the patient resting comfortable on a movable carrier.

HOSPITAL PROGRESS

FROM time to time the Bulletin will inform its readers of improvements and additions to the Jefferson Medical College Hospital, particularly, where such changes play a role in the welfare of the Alumni. Special mention will be made of the addition of new equipment, improved facilities for teaching, and the promotion of research. Chief among the recent improvements in the hospital has been the acquisition of a transfusion-plasma unit, an innovation in the preparation of blood and plasma for transfusion purposes. Jefferson is most fortunate to have acquired this modern equipment when it is realized that very few of these units are in existence throughout the entire country.

Dr. Harold W. Jones, Director of the Division of Hematology, announces that four rooms in the northwest corner of the Thompson Annex on the ground floor have been assigned to the Division of Hematology by the Board of Trustees. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Drake Cardeza have supplied the funds for the remodeling of

DIVISION OF HEMATOLOGY
(Charlotte Drake Cardeza Foundation)

the rooms, the equipment and maintenance of the unit. The rooms are completely air-conditioned. All types of transfusions are to be carried out by this unit; i. e., whole blood, citrated blood for immediate transfusion and for storage, and others. Dried plasma is to be used, although the unit will be equipped to make, use, and store liquid plasma.

One of the rooms is to be devoted entirely to the processing of blood into dried plasma. Citrated blood is placed in a special separator from which is obtained an extremely high yield of plasma, about sixty per cent. It is run through filters. This part of the procedure is performed in a glass-enclosed room under the most careful aseptic technique and is supervised by one of our nurses who has had special training in surgical technique. Then the plasma is placed in the Adtevac machine, gases and moisture are removed. It is dried, granulated, placed in sterile, rubber-capped bottles. It is necessary only to add sterile, pyrogen-free distilled water through the rubber cap, the dried plasma dissolves immediately and is ready for intravenous injection.

The personnel of the unit includes Dr. Carl J. Bucher, consultant to the Transfusion-Plasma Unit, Dr. Welland A. Hause, Fellow in Hematology, who is liaison officer between the Division of Hematology, and the rest of the hospital, Miss Barbara Harvey, in charge of the manufacture and distribution of stored transfusion material. Miss Julia Garber, B.S., in charge of typing, Mrs. Goldie

Byers Pringle, R.N., in charge of sterile technique and Mrs. Frances O'Neill, secretary.

It is planned to centralize the collection of blood, storage and delivery so that the blood or plasma may be available throughout the hospital any time of day or night.

Research work is planned by the Division in the many problems that develop in the Transfusion-Plasma field.

In addition the following changes, improvements and bequests have been made to the hospital:

The fifth floor in the Thompson Annex was completed in December, 1940, making available 36 modern semi-private rooms to the hospital service. These beds are in large rooms of four to five beds each and are finished in color. The indirect lighting and ultra modern fixtures make the floor a most pleasant and popular addition to the hospital facilities.

The old corridor rooms on the third floor of the old building have been removed and in their stead a spacious, airy, modern, orthopedic ward has been created which will be ready for occupancy about April 15, 1941.

The Dietrich Foundation recently contributed a sum of money to be used in the study of the Nasal Sinuses and their relation to allergic manifestations.

The operating rooms of the hospital and the Maternity department recently received valuable equipment and surgical instruments under the provision of the will of the late Professor P. Brooke Bland. Under the provisions of the same will the hospital has also received 50 milligrams of Radium increasing the radium supply of the institution.

A department of photography, completely equipped in every detail, together with a permanent staff of photographers and technicians, will be ready for operation in the very near future on the ground floor of the Thompson Annex. This gift was made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cardeza.

EDITORIAL NOTES

INFORMATION PLEASE

During the year 1939, questionnaires were released to the Alumni body for the purpose of obtaining vital information concerning its members. The contents of the two thousand questionnaires returned were summarized in an article by the former editor of the Bulletin, Dr. Thaddeus Montgomery, portraying vividly the activities and thoughts of Jefferson graduates, both young and old. The information thus obtained became of inestimable value to the College. Furthermore, news of interest was provided for the Alumni.

The Publicity Committee of the Alumni Association felt that the questionnaires should be continued as a permanent feature of the Bulletin. In another section a page is provided to be used as a guide. Those who failed to respond to the questionnaire of 1939 are asked to fill out the form in full. All Alumni are urged to send in interesting items of news together with recent occurrences pertaining not only to others but to themselves. This information will then be classified with the various classes and published with each issue of the Bulletin.

THE ALUMNI

JEFFERSON MID-WINTER SMOKER

On the evening of February 13, 1941, approximately three hundred Alumni and guests of Jefferson gathered at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel from far and near to enjoy once more a few hours of comradeship.

The Committee is to be congratulated for the arrangements made at this Smoker. The spacious quarters, the appetizing buffet supper together with an elaborate entertainment brought forth voices of approval from all the Alumni. It is hoped that more and more the Alumni will avail themselves of this yearly opportunity in returning to Jefferson.

DR. EDWARD L. BAUER
PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni of The Jefferson Medical College welcome as their newly elected President, Dr. Edward L. Bauer, Class of 1914. Born and schooled in Philadelphia, he represents the seventh direct generation of physicians in his family.

Following his internship at Germantown Hospital, Dr. Bauer launched immediately upon his chosen career, that of Pediatrics. His training in this branch of medicine has been both intense and varied, having taken post-graduate work in New York, Boston and Baltimore. His many hospital connections throughout the city of Philadelphia as consultant pediatrician are in recognition of his splendid talents. In 1926 he was appointed Professor of Pediatrics by his Alma Mater, a chair he holds today. Dr. Bauer has been a pioneer in the field of public health introducing modern methods of diphtheria prevention in the State of Pennsylvania. He is in great part responsible for the revision and modernization of many of the clauses of the Public Health Code of this State.

He has held high office in local, state and national societies. He has written extensively on pediatric subjects for American and Foreign medical journals.

Unit Director
Jefferson Hospital Unit

38TH GENERAL HOSPITAL UNITED STATES ARMY* (JEFFERSON HOSPITAL UNIT)

IN 1940 Surgeon-General of the United States Army, James C. Magee, Jefferson 1905, requested that Jefferson Medical College Hospital reorganize the 38th General Hospital for the United States Army, to be composed of Jefferson Hospital personnel. The Board of Trustees and the Faculty selected the Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, Dr. Baldwin L. Keyes, who was once a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Medical Reserve, for the position of Unit Director, and the organization of the hospital was undertaken.

Dr. Burgess L. Gordon, Associate Professor of Medicine, was selected for the position of Chief of the Medical Division with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel; and Dr. Alan P. Parker, Instructor in Surgery, was selected for Chief of the Surgical Division. Under the new Tables of Organization this hospital is to be prepared for a capacity of 1000 beds, will have 55 physicians and 15 medical administrative officers, with 120 nurses and other personnel to total approximately 700 in all.

The Organization of General Hospital No. 38 has gone ahead most satisfactorily. Practically all of the medical officers have received their commissions, and most of the nurses have been accepted for the army by the Red Cross authorities.

* Reprinted by permission of The Clinic, 1941.

JUNE 9/

The Surgeon General's Office has informed Jefferson Hospital authorities that the Jefferson Unit will not be called into service except in the event of war or a similar emergency. The commissions held by the Reserve Officers in this Unit are termed "temporary commissions" and only function while these officers are members of the Jefferson Medical College Hospital Staff, thus the Unit cannot be dismembered, for as soon as a member separates from the Hospital, his commission is automatically terminated. Dean Henry K. Mohler has been enthusiastic and most generous in his assistance, and Colonel Asa M. Lehman, Medical Corps United States Army, in charge of R.O.T.C. activities at Jefferson Hospital, has been indefatigable in helping to select officer material, the making of examinations, and the guiding of the Unit through the days of organization.

Should a national emergency ever arise, it is hoped that Jefferson Medical College Hospital will have reason to be proud of this new Unit, the 38th General Hospital of the United States Army.
